

INITIAL INTERNAL INSPECTIONS

The Labor Commissioner has determined that effective November 1, 2006, internal inspections for objects built to ASME or equivalent standard and subject to internal inspection will not be required prior to issuing the initial annual inspection certificate, provided a hydrostatic pressure test has been performed and the required information has been accepted by the Division of Labor Services.